Conflicting Genealogies?

Understanding how and why genealogies were made helps account for the differences between Matthew’s and Luke’s accounts. Aaron Demsky of Bar Ilan University proposes that two types of genealogies exist—linear and segmented. Linear genealogies often list descendants up to ten generations as a matter of biblical family law (cf. Deut. 23:3–4) or as a literary device to abbreviate a story. Shorter linear genealogies often introduce biblical figures such as Saul, Ezra, and Mordechai. Segmented genealogies divide a person’s heritage into brother branches or children of different wives, showing the kinship between tribes or clans. These maternal and filial branches reflect the tribal areas for redemption (Num. 26:52–56; Jer. 32:7). Furthermore, in instances of polygamy and concubinage, the primary wives’ offspring are distinguished as first heirs from the other wives or consorts.

Matthew begins his Gospel with the genealogy, while Luke includes it later. Matthew traces Jesus’ heritage through David to Abraham to demonstrate his Jewishness, while Luke goes back to Adam to show that Christ was not only a son of God but also a representative of humanity. Luke’s later placement has been considered rebirth since the genealogy appears after Jesus’ baptism. Matthew’s numbering is three groups of fourteen, which total forty-two, while Luke uses eleven groups of seven, totaling seventy-seven. The numerology from Matthew’s Gospel and the Gentiles from Luke’s Gospel would have been significant to the Jews in the Pythagorean system. Because the numbering mattered, Matthew’s isn’t a complete genealogy. Five kings were omitted. The consonants corresponding to 14 in Hebrew are dalet-vav-dalet—David. The last of Matthew’s listings has only 13 names, which has led to the suggestion that the church would have been number 14.

One of the most popular interpretations of the differences between the two genealogies is that Matthew traces Joseph’s lineage while Luke traces Mary’s. One difficulty with this view is that Joseph’s name is listed for both, while Mary’s name doesn’t appear. Given the nature of patriarchal society, Joseph may have been listed instead. Luke’s genealogy begins by listing Jesus’ age of thirty. From this age until his death, three Passovers are observed throughout the gospels, which is how we arrive at a death age of thirty-three. Thirty implies maturity—David began reigning at thirty, and Joseph entered Pharaoh’s service at thirty. Luke almost gives the caveat by stating, “As was supposed” (3:23). Luke also uses “son of” while Matthew “begot.” Readers are often puzzled by the differences, but when we understand what those two were trying to achieve, any tension is alleviated.

Satan & The Hymnbook # 1

I could well be biased on this, but I have often said that the hymnbook is the second most important book in the life of any church. If I am correct, then Satan certainly isn't going to ignore the church's 2nd most important book.

The fact is that, for at well over a century, Satan has been actively seeking to sabotage the Christian message as it has been contained within Christian hymnody for centuries.

One of the earliest assaults on the hymns of Christianity was penned by famous 19th century feminist, Elizabeth Cady Stanton (1815-1902). Her work is by no means the solitary criticism in this arena. In fact, a number of books have been published over the years by radical feminists whose agenda is to denigrate what they call the patriarchal nature of the vast majority of traditional Christian hymns.

However, there have been numerous other groups & movements that have "sanitized" the hymnbook.

YOUTH

Jacob Vaughan

The Fall Retreat will take place at WKYC from November 8th – 10th. This event is for middle and high schoolers. Bob Palmer will be our speaker again this year and we are sure to learn more about each other and the Lord. Please be making plans to attend, it is truly a wonderful time. The cost to attend will be $50 per kid. Please sign up on the youth board if you plan on attending. I am currently working on my chaperones for the weekend. If you would like to chaperone, speak to me and we will see what we can make happen.

We will be taking our highschoolers on a mission trip this summer to Honduras from June 25th – July 2nd. We have room for only a few more to join us on this trip. The last day to sign up is November 24th. We currently have 20 individuals going and will be able to take 25. You will need to be obtaining a passport relatively soon if you are making this journey.

The Youth Christmas Party will be held on December 21st starting at 5:00 and running through 7:00. Currently the party will be held here at the church. Many memories will be made as we play ridiculous games and have a good meal together. I hope all our youth will be able to make it out. We will play a game of White Elephant/ Dirty Santa with the cost of the gift being no more than fifteen dollars.

We will be making a trip to Memphis on January 20th to catch a Grizzlies game. That is Martin Luther King Jr. Day. The cost per ticket is looking like it will be $65. We will also be eating both Lunch and dinner while in Memphis so you will need to plan accordingly for that as well. We will be visiting the great pyramid of Memphis while in the area.

Breakfast With Santa – Saturday, Dec. 7th
There will be a planning meeting this Sunday, Nov 3rd at 5:00 in room 208 for anyone who would like to help.
